Excerpt: . . . in future, factions shall altogether cease and close between the fellow-members, or fellows and others of this or that country, city, or college; nor in the election of fellows, scholars, presidents, or in any other public proceeding, or in giving similar suffrages, shall they side with him who is of the same nation with them rather than with him who is deservedly to be preferred for his zeal for learning, integrity of life and conduct, and other good qualities of mind and body; since it is very disgraceful, especially to those who are learned and imbued with good principles (who ought to be a pattern and mirror of virtue) to be influenced by such unjust and vulgar motives. The rather, as this University begets and frames all as it were anew to good manners and familiarity with learning, thus also may all its foster-children...
