Giddings, who was formerly seized of the premises, has recovered a judgment against the tenant for her dower in the premises. The demandants offered an office copy of a deed from James Crosby, conveying to Miles the demanded premises. This was objected to, but it was received. They also proved the intermarriage of Miles and said Ruth Anne, and that Miles died without children, leaving Ruth Anne, his widow, and the tenant, his father; they also proved their own intermarriage, and that the dower had been seasonably demanded. The tenant introduced an instrument of conveyance from Miles to the tenant, of one undivided half of the demanded premises. It was without seal, and was signed by Ruth Anne, T there being a paragraph in it, purporting her relinquishment of dower. The tenant also proved, that Mrs. Giddings, the widow of a former proprietor, had recovered judgment against him for her dower, and that commissioners had been appointed by this Court, at its present session, to assign the same. The tenant then proved that Miles, when the land was deeded to him by Crosby, mortgaged back the same to secure certain described notes, given jointly by Miles and the tenant; and, that since this suit was commenced, the mortgage with one of the notes, (the others having been paid,) had been assigned to the tenant. The case was submitted to the Court for a decision. A. W. Paine, for the demandants. Wm. Fessenden, for...
