The first President of the Continental Congress was a Southern man, and a Southern member of that Congress was the author and mover of the adoption of the resolution declaring the Colonies free and independent States. The greatest American orator - the man whose words most inspired the American heart and nerved the American arm in the struggle for independence - was a Southern man. The author of the Declaration of Independence - the most famous production of an American pen - was a Southern man, and when the peoples of the United States met to celebrate the Centennial of that Declaration it was a Southern man who was selected to write the poem for the opening of that Centennial. The father of the Constitution was a Southern man; its greatest expounder - the greatest American jurist - was a Southern man; and when, in the fullness of time, the peoples of the Union came to celebrate the Centennial of that immortal instrument, it was a Southern man who was the chosen orator...
