Argo-Navis. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 208 pages. Dimensions: 8.8in. x 5.9in. x 0.4in. What Kids Want And Need From Parents is truly a seminal book in parenting. It begins with one mans 50-year journey to discover a better way to prepare American kids for life and culminates with the amazing discovery: the biggest factor in childrens success in life turns out to be dependent on how their parents deal with their own childhood! Teacher Joe Gauld sets out to change American education in the 60s, founding the Hyde School in Bath, Maine, committed to the idea every student is gifted with a unique potential. But by tracking Hyde graduates in life, he finds parenting a much larger influence on their later lives than schooling. So in 1974, he begins a program to regularly address parental growth and family issues. Hydes extraordinary ability to bond family and school receives national media attention, and Hyde grows into a network of seven private and public schools, plus a national Hyde Biggest Job parent program. Joe increasingly centers his work on families, finding parenting heavily influenced by how parents were raised. So parents learning how to effectively deal with both the negative as well as the positive aspects of their upbringing becomes critical to effective parenting. Joe carefully leads the reader through this dynamic and ground-breaking parenting process. While my familys three years at Hyde was a struggle, it forced me to open my eyes and eventually it changed my life. In retrospect, I wish I had the benefit of Joe Gaulds wisdom earlier. Our role as a parent and mentor is to draw out and demand our childrens best. It requires that we make the same demand of ourselves, and there are powerful obstacles. Joe Gauld uses his family and other Hyde families as case studies...
