Date: 2010 -09-03. There is a joke in ancient China: According to legend, the immortal Lu Tung-pin Lu-yu a beggar, pity was moved, they put the stones have turned into street gave him gold. Beggars still go bad one and gave him a piece of gold enchant. He did not go. Dongbin asked him: You have to what? The beggar said: I want your fingers. Ironically, this story was originally used to greedy people. The beggars and Pushkin s fairy tale Fisherman and the Fish Story is somewhat similar to the old woman, was later passed as a laughing stock. However, with the development of the times, in the 21st century, again re-read the story, which contains the philosophical taste, you will find that the beggar is a good at learning. He knew, twelve gold there is always running out of time, if you get a Midas touch finger, that is, learn the alchemy in order to ensure food and clothing for life with no fear. From a learning perspective, he is...
